

With over 20 years of experience in behavioral health field, Raul has been a leader in educating and supporting individuals, organizations and communities about substance use disorders and long-term recovery. Currently, Raul is practicing therapist and Department Chair for the Human Services Department at Austin Community College with the specialty of teaching addiction counseling students. He has been a director for residential and correctional programs as well has worked in all levels of care including his own private practice. Raul has also been a long-time supporter of community development and collaboration for the recovery community in greater Austin area.